

COMPLETED CROSS . . . The Rev. Levi Price and Mrs. Randy Presley, both residents of New Horizons, admire the completed Easter cross, which residents of the adult recreation community filled with lilies during Easter services at New Horizons. The Easter service is to be held annually in the development.

500 Attend Services On Easter

More than 500 persons from throughout the South Bay attended the first annual non-denominational Easter Services at New Horizons to witness the unveiling of a 12-foot high flowered cross.

Highlight of the unique service, conducted by The Rev. Levi Price, a New Horizons resident, was the filling of the cabinet-like cross with Easter lilies. At the conclusion of the service, the lilies were planted adjacent to the waterfall and lake, there to grow permanently and annually supply fresh flowers on future Easters.

A 15-voice residents' choir under the direction of Mrs.

Randy Presley made its first appearance, singing special Easter music for the assemblage. In attendance were residents of New Horizons, their guests and visitors from throughout the southern metropolitan area.

The entire central recreation area was circled with visitors and many watched and worshipped from the balconies overlooking the heart of the country club scene.

New Horizons is Ray Watt's complete adult recreation and garden home community in Torrance.

Marymount Sets Public Lecture

Dr. Jerry Neyman, director of the Statistical Laboratory at the University of California, will deliver a series of three lectures at Marymount College Thursday and Friday.

His lecture on the measure-theory in probability research Thursday at 7:30 p.m., room G-5 of the Science Building, is open to the public and is without charge. High school mathematics and teachers are particularly invited.

Downtown Lions to Hear Rhodes Scholar Tuesday

"Rhodes to achievement" will be the topic of 21-year-old Loyola University student Brian Fay when he addresses the Downtown Torrance Lion's Club at a weekly luncheon meeting at the Palms Tuesday, Allen Klatzker program chairman for the meeting, has announced.

Fay, a recent winner of the famed Rhodes, Wilson, and Danforth fellowships, is considered one of the most outstanding young scholars in America today. While maintaining an "A" average in his English major, he has twice won the nationally known Forest Lawn Writing awards program.

At Loyola, where Fay is a senior, he is considered one of the outstanding members of the University honors program. He has engaged in several experiments in the behavioral sciences at UCLA and has participated in research for the Human Development of Atlanta, Ga.

Fay plans to study at Oxford for two years in the related fields of political theory, philosophy, and economics. Upon returning to the United States, he hopes to obtain his doctoral degree.

Sponsored by Robert MacDonald of American Youth Enterprises, the talk offers a very articulate and perceptive view into the various facets of today's education which both motivate and discourage the student. This approach to student motivation is very unique because it offers the point of view of the student rather than about or aimed at the student.

AIR FORCE CONTRACT

An Air Force contract in the amount of $159,250 has been placed with AiResearch Manufacturing Co., according to officials at the Sacramento Air Materiel Area headquarters at McClellan Air Force Base, Calif.

Suspensions Continue To Decline

Suspensions in the Torrance schools during the current year continue to be lower than the 1963-64 year, according to a report given to the Board of Education Monday.

A total of 146 students were suspended during March, compared to 158 during March last year. Since September, 753 students have been sent home for disciplinary reasons, compared to 934 for the same period in 1963-64.

Dr. Louis Kaplan, assistant superintendent for special services, cautioned against drawing any "general conclusions from the rate or number of suspensions."

"Maybe the teacher is not quite as agile as the students, or the students have a new system and it takes a while to crack it," Dr. Kaplan quipped.

PRESS-HERALD A-3

Reservists Encouraged To Join 148th Squadron

Immediate openings in electronics and communications are available in the 148th Communications Squadron of the California Air National Guard based at 2320 N. Parmelee Ave., Compton.

Vacancies are limited to men with prior military service who can qualify for the positions.

Because of the recent disbandment of the Air Force Reserve Recovery Units, many reservists have been released and will not be able to continue, in an active status, toward their selected careers.

Lt. Col. Noel A. Paulson, commander of the 148th, expressed great concern over the loss of the eliminated reservists, to the service. Their skills, knowledge and training have made them irreplaceable and this valuable experience should not be cast aside.

RESERVISTS effected by this elimination should evaluate their position and determine the benefits of continuing their reserve membership with the Air National Guard, Lt. Col. Paulson said.

Membership in the California Air National Guard offers additional training, supplemental income, retirement and foremost service to the United States of America. All applicants will be given detailed information regarding their position and assignment.

For information regarding available openings in the 148th, contact M/Sgt. George Matusic at 636-8636 or 632-3015.
